

By Kevin Siembieda

Another Holiday weekend is upon us. I'm planning to work at getting Rifts® Lemuria closer to finished, while relaxing a bit.

The New Year always seems to bring about a certain amount of nostalgia for the past and reflection about the future.

I won't lie to you, I do not know what lies ahead for Palladium. Our pool of talented creators – writers and artists – have never been better and we have a million ideas for great new product.

My personal and professional goal remains to get Palladium in a position to release one or two new books every month. I know, I talk like that every year, but this year I really think we have things in place to pull it off. If we do finally succeed in pulling off one or two new releases month after month, we will need YOUR support by purchasing them and spreading the word to encourage others to try our games and supplements. The last two years, we have seen a lot of new gamers join the Palladium family. With your help we can continue to grow that audience and bring Palladium back to its former days of glory. Wouldn't that be nice? I say let's do it!

I was feeling a bit blue earlier this week. I think it was brought on by the disappointment of the post-Christmas drop in sales (frustrating) and missing the people I've lost in recent years, most notably my Dad, Erick Wujcik, and Mrs. Bartold just a few weeks ago. I've also been worrying about my dear, sweet friend, and her battle with cancer,

Kathryn Kozora

Madman Mike

in the aftermath of his bone-breaking car crash, and a few other friends struggling with health or financial issues. Makes me angry to see these good, kind people struggling or suffering. With any luck, 2012 will be a happy, healthy and prosperous year for us all.

I couldn't stay blue for too long, though. Not with the deluge of telephone calls, text messages and emails from a great number of friends and loved ones the last few days. Besides, I'm excited about the new year and brimming with ideas about, well, everything.

On a personal note, I got big news on Christmas Day: I'm going to become a Grandpa in 2012!

My daughter

Monica

is pregnant with her first child. They don't know if it's a boy or girl (they want it to be a surprise, which I think is cool) and both Monica and her husband are overjoyed. When I got the news Christmas morning we were all laughing and squealing like idiots. Wow. Congratulations Monica and Steven! Thanks for waiting and making the good news part of Christmas. :D

Steven

My thanks to the many friends and fans for your warm holiday wishes. I trust everyone had a wonderful holiday weekend.

More Murmurs from the Megaverse® and posts on Palladium's Facebook Page . Both have been seeing increased activity as I've gotten back into posting more frequently at both web locations as well as interacting more on Facebook. I will continue to do so into the new year.

Online Video Programs for Palladium Books® are coming in 2012.

It looks like we'll have some new video offerings online soon.

I plan to do some online video chats, interviews and presentations to post online starting next year. You know, short, fun stuff maybe 5-10 minutes long every week or two. Haven't decided what to call it yet. Conversations with Kevin Siembieda or Kevin on Gaming, or . . . heck if I know. I'm open to suggestions. I'll keep you posted on that front.

Carmen Bellaire is also planning on starting his video review show of Palladium products called

From the Rifts®. He expects the first several reviews to be posted on YouTube sometime in January, 2012. I know he's done 6-8 videos already, but has to edit them.

2012: Plans for new product. I'll go into our plans for 2012 and start talking about the 2012 Palladium Open House (coming up FAST) in the next Weekly Update.

UPDATE: Online Sales. Though we didn't break a record with last week's sales, we came close to tying one. I was delighted with sales up through Christmas Day, then they plummeted. And I mean dropped like a rock. Yeesh. Talk about soul crushing.

All I can figure is people were out taking advantage of "After Christmas Sales" at retail stores and having too much holiday fun to be ordering Palladium products. Still, the precipitous drop was startling and worrisome. We saw sales rebound Wednesday night, but they were sluggish again last night. If sales follow the trend of previous years we should see sales shoot back up this weekend and through the next couple of weeks. The extension of the Christmas Surprise Package offer

(you only have a couple weeks to still get one) should help on that front. I sure hope so as I was rather hoping for strong sales to rocket us into the New Year. I'd love to start the New Year off strong and kick it into high gear as we approach the

2012 Palladium Open House

(May 3 VIP Night, 4, 5 & 6).

Palladium's Christmas Surprise Package is the best deal of the holidays and it has been extended for about two weeks

. $80-$90 (sometimes more) worth of Palladium Books product for only $38 plus shipping and handling.

What are you waiting for

BIG SALE on Kevin's Online Toy & Collectibles Store. Speaking of sales, just about everything in my online store is selling at a 30% discount! That includes the toys and Palladium collectibles. Plus, I think I'll have Alex and I put a couple dozen new "Palladium" items (books, proofreader copies of books, original artwork, prints, and other rare stuff) into the store in a day or two and maybe more next week. Alex has already added a bunch of new toys. All items are from my personal collection and are generally in very good to mint condition. The store's current sale started yesterday and ends January 9, 2012. Check it out.

UPDATE: Rifts® Path of the Storm™ remains the Number One requested specific product for Surprise Packages in the month of December. The

Palladium Bookmarks, Set One is the other hot new release, along with Robotech® The New Generation™ Sourcebook.

As you might expect,

Rifts®

is the most requested product line, but we are also seeing a lot of interest in

Dead Reign™

(zombies),

Heroes Unlimited™, Palladium Fantasy RPG®

and Nightbane®

as well as

Chaos Earth™

UPDATE: Rifts® Lemuria. Work on the writing and editing has been slow the last several weeks with the holidays and Grab Bags, but it is now my top priority! I worked on it a little yesterday and quite a bit today. Will continue to do so until it goes to the printer. This is a January release and you are going to love it.

UPDATE: The Rifter #57. Most of the artwork has been assigned and the book is being edited right now. It is another great issue with a bunch of monsters and strange animals for and tech stuff for

among other things. See the description elsewhere in this Update. January release.

UPDATE: Dead Reign™ Sourcebook 3: Endless Dead™. I finish this frightening addition to the Dead Reign™ RPG series next. The 96 page sourcebook presents zombies like you have never seen them, 7 new types of them, 5 new survivor O.C.C.s including the Wheelman and Zombie Hunter, vehicle armor rules, many encounter tables, adventure tables, what the military is doing and more. A February release.

UPDATE: Rifts® Vampires Sourcebook. I'll be diving into this book right after Endless Dead. Looking at a February release.

UPDATE: Robotech® Genesis Pits. I spoke with Irvin Jackson last week and he's working away on the manuscript with an eye to see this baby out no later than March.

UPDATE: Rifts® Northern Gun™. Matthew Clements has been writing away on the two Northern Gun books and he has more surprises in development. I want both Northern Gun™ books out before the Open House.

UPDATE: Other Titles. Like I mentioned earlier, I'm going to save the info on the rest of our line up for 2012 till next year. ;) But it includes Megaverse® in Flames, Beyond the Supernatural™, Palladium Fantasy™, Chaos Earth™ and other good stuff. I plan to make 2012 a year Palladium fans will never forget!

Happy New Year's. Have fun, relax, buy a Palladium Surprise Package, be safe and have a wonderful New Year's holiday. May the new year be a happy, healthy and prosperous one for us all.

Rifts® Ultimate Edition – Available now

Rifts® Ultimate Edition is a beautiful, 376 page, hardcover role-playing game waiting to be your first step into the amazing Rifts® Earth setting®, for only $39.95 retail. It contains everything you need to start playing except dice, friends and imagination.

Rifts® is the ultimate, multi-genre setting that combines science fiction and fantasy with horror, adventure, and superheroes in a plausible and compelling post-apocalyptic setting unlike anything else on the market. It provides avenues of adventure you've never imagined, challenges the imagination and is fun, fun, fun.

Magic and super-science coexist in a wild post-apocalyptic setting where humans and alien life forms clash, and magic and technology collide. Thus, dragons, demons and monsters walk alongside giant robots, cyborgs and augmented warriors. High-tech warriors and tech-based mutants are pitted against (or working with) mages, creatures of magic, Faerie Folk, powerful psychics and alien beings from beyond the Rifts.

The Rifts are tears in the fabric of space and time that allow “things” from an infinite number of worlds to travel to Rifts Earth. This includes alien people and explorers, to mythical beings like dragons and Faeries, to dinosaurs, demons, ancient gods and unimaginable monstrosities. Those adventurers with the knowledge or the right connections can also travel through the Rifts to other places on Earth in the blink of an eye, as well as to an array of alien worlds and dimensions

Any adventure conceivable is possible in Rifts® where players are limited only by their imaginations.

Walker, Mystic, Ley Line Rifter, and others.

- The self-proclaimed “saviors of humanity” are the soldiers of the Coalition States, but are they heroes or an enemy as dangerous as any monster from the Rifts?

Palladium to hold the line on price

I just want to reiterate that we have no intention of raising the cover price on most of our other books. However, we may increase the price of some core rule books, such as the

Dead Reign™ RPG, Palladium Fantasy RPG®, Heroes Unlimited™

, and others by a couple dollars as they go into new printings. In this tough economy, we want to continue to keep our prices low and the entry level for Palladium’s games the most affordable on the market.

Spread the word.
