

By Kevin Siembieda

It's a new year and there is so much to talk about I'm going to have to spread it out over the next several Weekly Updates. Here's this week's exciting news and release information.

Palladium may quite possibly have the most dedicated and talented team of creators working on books of any in time our history. And they are brimming with a million mind-boggling ideas for new books and projects that will make your mouths water.

We have nearly a dozen fantastic new titles in the pipeline slated for just the first six months of the year. All of them are finished to one degree or another and just plain awesome.

The Palladium crew and I are hellbent on getting books finished and in your hands fast. I'm shooting for 1-3 new releases every single month of 2012. And I really think we can do it. We have never had so many high concept books in the pipeline at any one time. Nor so many so close to completion. And every last one of them brimming with pulse-pounding ideas, info and source material that is sure to ignite your imaginations.

On top of that, I want to start producing many more sourcebooks for Palladium Fantasy®,
Chaos Earth [™], Splicers
® and the long awaited
Beyond the Supernatural [™] books.

Those are Palladium's 2012 plans in a nutshell. More details follow below and in Weekly Updates in the weeks to come.

Now it's all up to you.

You hold the fate of Palladium Books in your hands. We are poised to have an explosive year packed with sourcebooks that will send you to Nirvana. But current sales and financial resources are soft.

We need your support now more than ever.

We need you to buy our books – new and old – and to talk them up to start a grass roots promotional campaign.

It may surprise you to learn there are still gamers who think Palladium Books went out of business in 2006! What the . . . ?! That sure surprised me. We need to change that. And now! We need to let gamers know Palladium Books is not only alive and kicking, but producing some of the most imaginative and fun RPG games, sourcebooks and world settings, bar none. Games that focus on storytelling, setting and characters. True “role-playing” games where characters and story matter.

Without you and new people discovering Palladium Books' RPGs through word of mouth, online and at conventions, our fate is grim. We need your support. Buy Palladium. Play Palladium. Talk about Palladium and the new releases, game lines and settings.

We need to make some noise and we need sales to rise so we can release all of the epic new titles we want to release without delay. Please help us make 2012 Palladium's triumphant banner year. Be part of the renaissance.

We are giving it our all and we need you to do the same. I know I give a rousing spiel this time every year. We always seem to have big plans and high hopes before something goes awry. Well, this year is going to be different. Don't take my word for it. The proof will be in the new releases. And wonderful releases they shall be.

UPDATE: Rifts® World Book 32: Lemuria is truly epic and shaping up to be part Rifts®
Triax, part

Rifts® Atlantis,

and all fun. I think there is one surprise after another. The name, cover art and nature of the book might have you thinking is all about underwater civilization, but that's not the case. There is a ton of new and never before seen material that is all suitable for use on dry land. You see, Lemurians are amphibious

Rifts® Lemuria

. There is all kinds of stuff in this book that can be used on dry land

– Lemurian weapons, armor, vehicles, monstrous riding animals and magic that can all be used in the surface world as well as below the waves.

You will find Rifts® Lemuria brimming with new weapons, new Biomancy and Ocean Magic spells, new Symbiotes, never-before-seen living power armor, exotic creatures, sea dragons and monsters wrapped in an exotic history that is sure to surprise and please. I'm talking whacked out stuff you have never seen before. And most of it can be used in any campaign setting.

Read “The Ten things you need to know about Rifts® Lemuria” in the new description in this Weekly Update.

UPDATE: Online Sales. Sales have stunk this week. We're hoping they skyrocket over the weekend as the Christmas Surprise Package offer ends Sunday at Midnight and our Rifter® subscription drive starts today. I also anticipate positive word of mouth about Rifts

® Path of the Storm

™ and

Robotech® New Generation™ Sourcebook

(people love them both) will cause their sales to increase throughout the month. Then, hot, upcoming new releases should make a huge difference starting with the impressive

and the highly anticipated

Rifts® Lemuria

, both January releases. Meanwhile, we usually see an increase in non-book items in the winter, like prints, bookmarks, Rifts® miniatures, T-shirts, dice bags and other cool stuff. Trying to stay hopeful.

UPDATE: Kevin's Online Toy & Collectibles Store. Alex and I continue to add toys and action figures, as well as Palladium collectibles, original artwork, rare limited edition prints, out of print books and other good stuff into my online store. All items are from my personal collection and are generally in very good to mint condition – and priced to sell. We'll keep adding toys every day or two and putting up a bunch of Palladium collectibles every week. Will try to add stuff this weekend.

Communication is Beautiful

. . . and we plan on doing a lot of it.

As promised, I will be sharing my thoughts and feeling more frequently, like I used to, by posting more Murmurs from the Megaverse® and on the Palladium Facebook Page. I posted a couple Murmurs in the last two days and commented on a number of Facebook posts. I have also been encouraging the rest of the Palladium crew to be more vocal on Facebook. Matthew has been doing so, and I think Alex and Wayne will be following suit. Hey, that goes for you Palladium freelancers, too!

A warning about the Murmurs From the Megaverse®: Some are hype and inside information about product, others are personal thoughts and emotions about writing, creativity, product, life, health, love, dreams and, well, everything. And some may be just plain silly, as I have some thoughts about some fun and goofy subject matter.

I also plan to start posting video chats by me about gaming, writing, creativity and Murmur-like stuff on YouTube.

Carmen Bellaire and William "Big Will" Johnson have started to post video reviews about Palladium role-playing games and sourcebooks.

The first three are up on YouTube right now, with 2-3 more going up this weekend and one or two more to be posted every week or so. Production quality is excellent. Carmen is a little stiff in the first few, but as he and Will do more they are relaxing and loosening up. Check them out by going to youtube.com/user/Maloquinn/videos

Though Carmen and Will's video reviews are completely volunteer and something they are doing on their own, independent of Palladium (thanks, guys!), we see it as part of our push to make some noise about Palladium Books and win back past gamers and attract new gamers!

Sneak Previews to appear on DriveThruRPG.com as soon as they are available. There are 90+ back stock titles, including back issues of

The Rifter

®, first edition rule books, other sneak previews and the Rifts® Game Master Kit all available as PDF downloads at reasonable prices.

Making more noise – Palladium Convention Events

VisionCon – Springfield, Missouri – February 17-19, 2012. I, Kevin Siembieda, and Jolly Blackburn

and my old pal), among many other notable people, will be guests at

in Springfield, Missouri, February 17-19. This is my first time in the heart of the Midwest and I'm hoping to see gamers from throughout Missouri, as well as some folks from neighboring Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. As always, I'll be available the entire convention to chat and sign autographs, as well as participate in panel discussions, and I imagine I'll run a game or two over the weekend. I'll also bring some prints and a few books to sign and sell. So come on down and join the fun. Don't know when I'll be back that way again.

Go to <http://www.visioncon.net> for more information about VisionCon.

Westland Library hosts Palladium Gaming Event – February 26, 2012. I don't think the exact date is firmly set yet, but I think it will be Sunday, February 26, 2012, that Julius and I, and a couple other Palladium Game Masters, will be running Rifts® and Palladium Fantasy® gaming events from 1-4 PM at the Westland Public Library.

Palladium Open House – May 4, 5 & 6 (VIP Night, May 3)

Get your admission ticket . this weekend. Palladium Open House – May 4, 5 & 6 - VIP Night is Thursday, May 3, 2012. The last of the VIP tickets will go on sale February 1, 2012. I talk about some of my thoughts for the Open House in today's

Murmurs From the Megaverse

®. I'll talk more about it in an upcoming Weekly Update and convention description in the store in a week or two. I will say now that we want as many of you as possible to attend. We want to see you in our costume competition, we need Game Masters to run events, and we need YOU to join the fun and celebrate 31 years of Palladium Books. Please come.

Gen Con Indy – August, 2012

We'll be there. What about you? And how about running "official" Palladium gaming events there? You need to file your event forms with Gen Con in the next few weeks. Let's make some noise there, shall we? More on this next Weekly Update.

In closing. See, I told you there was lots and lots to talk about. I could have gone on for several more pages. I'll cover more in the next Weekly Update. Meanwhile, check out the 2012 Release Schedule and descriptions for the new releases coming your way.

Fan Comments from Christmas Grab Bags

During the holiday season, we like to let you see some of the many comments we get with the Christmas Surprise Packages.

It's a nice way to acknowledge some of our fans and to share with you the words we hear from gamers throughout the world. We show only the person's initials as some people would rather keep their identity private. Our thanks for your kind words of appreciation and encouragement. We're happy to see so many satisfied customers and the rampant enthusiasm.

The Extended

Christmas Surprise Package

offer ENDS Sunday, January 15 – this weekend!

This is your last chance to get one.

C.P. in Arlington, Texas, writes: I have been a long time fan and wanted to try the Surprise Package for awhile . . . Thanks for always looking out for the fans.

J.G. in Spokane, Washington, writes: This is my first year playing any pen and paper games and you guys at Palladium have managed to capture my imagination better than any video game, movie or book. You are keeping me sane through college and I can't tell you how grateful for that I am. Also, thanks for doing the Grab Bag deal, it gives me the opportunity to actually grab some of these books to have on hand, instead of borrowing them from my GM. Happy Holidays.

K.A. in Roseburg, Oregon, writes: I LOVE your games. I really dig all the little details and background stuff you add, plus I'm a sucker for anything post-apocalyptic and you guys seem to specialize in offering up a plethora of armageddons in your various game settings. Keep up the good work!!!

S.J. in Loves Park, Illinois, writes: To Matthew Clements, I absolutely loved Rifts® Path of the Storm ! Have you considered writing the subsequent "screenplays?" I hope you do – would love to see what the future holds. To Kevin and the entire staff, keep up the great work! I always look forward to what's coming next from you guys.

T.H. in Carrollton, Texas, writes: I've been with Palladium Books since Mechanoids®: Homeworld TM [1983], and have run thousands of games over the years. My son is now in the Navy and, evidently, has also begun to continue the tradition [of playing Palladium games] there as I did during Desert Shield/Storm. And now, to my surprise, that his friends now camp out in my home most weekends to play as well – your contagion is spreading. :D And I'm more than pleased to be a carrier. Talking to the next generation is definitely revealing that this art form is becoming of great interest to many younger gamers once again. They want the flexibility and depth of pen/paper role-playing that will always be superior to video games and other forms of gaming . . . Keep it going, you guys, we are with you.

C.M. in Webster Groves, Missouri, writes: You guys always do a great job. I have no suggestions.

K.K. in Bradford, Canada, writes: Just want to say that Rifts® was my introduction to tabletop role-playing. Thanks for putting out such an amazing universe. I'm looking forward to more Palladium action in the near future!

P.T. in Pittsburg, California, writes: Kevin Siembieda and the crew of Palladium Books, I wish you guys happy holidays. I hope your game is around for many more years to come. I've played it in High School, in the Military and now I'm a college student. I've always wanted to see you guys turn this into an MMORPG and I know there has been talk of this for years. . .

Rifts

®, love playing the game. Have been playing it off and on for over 10 years now. I used to own something like 35 books, but due to military moves have lost them all. Now I'm trying to rebuild my collection once again.

C.T. in Raleigh, North Carolina, writes: Love the Christmas Packages! The only thing wrong with them is I already have every Palladium book except for the three on my list. I have been with Palladium since 1992. I started with Robotech® and moved on from there. This is the only game system I play, except for the Star Wars D6 system. One suggestion though, put more books out soon! I've got money burning a hole in my pocket! :)

R.A. in Riverton, Utah, writes: Whilst in the midst of epic nerd revival, it has been ceaselessly entertaining flipping through old Rifts® books. I wish I had kept hold of more of them from my youth. Even when I haven't been more active gaming, the books have always been awesome to thumb through for their art, stories or just for nostalgia. And now that I've picked them up again, I can feel the itch to play creeping back into my life. Oy vey! At any rate, keep up the good work and thanks for continuing to share your creativity.

D.B. in Omaha, Nebraska, writes: I can't thank Kevin and the crew enough for their contributions to the RPG genre and community over the years. I have had my "head exploded" by the amazing Beyond the Supernatural™ HC and Robotech® Gold HC in X-Mas Surprises past . . . but as always, you can never go wrong with an X-Mas Package! Best wishes for 2012.

E.S. in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, writes: Thanks again for not only offering the Grab Bag, but for extending it for so long again this year. It's a big help to spread out the payments after Christmas, plus, it's a nice little treat after a long (often stressful) holiday. After all you've been through, hopefully 2012 will be a better, brighter and healthier year.

Last weekend to order a Christmas Surprise Package – Offer ends midnight on Sunday, January 15, 2012

10 things you need to know about Rifts® Lemuria

1. The “Fish-People” on the cover are not Lemurians. They are aquatic allies of the Lemurians known as Merans. The guy riding the manta ray isn't a Lemurian either. He's an adventurer from the surface visiting a Lemurian city.
2. Lemurians are, in effect, amphibious humanoids with legs, feet and an appearance very much like humans. They function equally well on dry land as they do underwater.
3. The land and water nature of Lemurians means their weapons, armor and magic are geared for both land and water. This book is jam-packed with weapons, living Bio-Armor, riding animals, monsters, magic spells, vehicles and equipment that can be used in ANY campaign, even those completely land-based.
4. Lemurians are ancient humans who existed during the same time period as True Atlanteans about 15,000 years ago. When Atlantis disappeared, it created a global ripple-effect that had profound repercussions on Lemurians and caused their civilization to also vanish.
5. Lemurian Biomancer Gene-Mages have, over the centuries, “adjusted” their DNA to make Lemurians amphibious, stronger, faster and advanced humans. They see themselves as humans, but will you?
6. Lemurians use Stone Magic and Biomancy but in different and more advanced ways. That means stone vehicles, living power armor, living weapons, machine-like Symbiotes, and strange herbs and plant-life.
7. Lemurian Biomancer Gene-Mages have “gene-tweaked” many animals, monsters and sea serpents to make them suitable as riding animals and pets.
8. Lemurians know many new Biomancy and Ocean Magic spells and they are presented in this book. Again, many are suitable for use on land.
9. Lemurians are the arch-enemy of the Lord of the Deep, the undead and all evil supernatural beings.
10. Rifts® World Book 32: Lemuria is filled with secrets about the Lemurians, their civilization, Atlanteans, Easter Island, Pre-Rifts Earth history and more. One of the biggest secrets is that Lemurian cities are . . . oops, that's one of the big reveals in the book, so we can't give it away here. Sorry.
